GERMAN SHRAPNEL SHATTERS TERMONDE AND NEARBY TOWNS

Belgians Retire in Good Order Under Withering Fire - Artillery Spares Churches.

TERMONDE, Sept. 23, The only battle on in Belgium on Saturday was south of Termonde, where the Germans shelled the Belglans,

The Belgians held their ground tenaciously under a heavy, well-directed fire and then retired steadily through Audegm toward Termonde, completing their retirement at midday. Two hundred shrapnel shells fell in the village of Audesm. I reached Termonde at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and paced through the shattered town, into which the Germans occasionally sent a howitzer shell, I proceeded toward Audegm at 10:25 o'clock and watched the German gunners achieve their object of shattering the tower of the such at Audegm. One moment the spire was shrouded in white smoke, the new moment it had disap-peared, leaving nothing but a decrepit A mile and a quarter this side of Audegm the Belgians faced about at 2 o'clock, when reinforcements began to An armored motorcar, mounted gendarmes and one or two extraordinarily bold cyclists ventured int the village. Following these I reached the farther ide of Audegm. Here the motor caught Its mitrailleuse six Germans napping. ealt faithfully with them at a distance of 500 yards.

It appeared that the German forces contented themselves with approaching the outskirts of Audegm. This informa-tion, given by a peasant, was confirmed by the fact that the pockets of dead Belgians lying there had been cut out and all their valuables taken. This both Grant, Dailey and I saw. SHOTS FILL STREETS.

The road through the village was trewn thick with shrapnel. I picked up double handful in less than 50 yards. The German gunners had evidently secured the range to an inch. It is marvelous that the Belgians escaped so lightly

Hardly had the Germans disappeared than many villagers began to appear cautiously in the streets, collecting frag-ments of shell and shrapnel balls. They were as phiegmatic as the Belgian oldiers, who are imperturbable in ircumstances.
Soon after the motor car and its mitrallieuse had talked sharply to the Germans, the Belgians made an advance in force on the right. A regiment of lancers gailoped through a field to a position west of Wespelnars. It was upported as quickly as possible by in-antry, while an infantry attack, sup-orted by artillery, developed against Vespelaars itself.

The range was very short and the bat-tery thoroughly searched the village, arefully avoiding the rather fine church towering over the cluster of little houses. We could hear the crash of shrapnel on the red tiled roofs. For a few minutes

Wespelaars disappeared, then reappeared momentarily in the white clouds of In the face of the terrific hall the Gernan resistance was feeble, but Westpelaars was a thick woodland hiding Lebbeke from view. Lebbeke was known to be strongly occupied by the Germana.

Content, apparently, with the ground they had won, which was no inconsider-able area, the Belgians left the Germans undisturbed, to send an occasional shell

The book is an illustrated manuscript of some of Keats' poems, and has just been completed after forces of Cossacks and suffered terrible losses, says the official report. Some of the Austrians succeeded in reaching Jasiow and joining other forces there, but they lost every gun that they attempted to take with them.

This book was designed and bound by ficarge Sutcliffe, the noted booktinder of Paland street, who has evolved many original ideas in bookbinding. He was the first to use toward decorations—pearls incread of white leather, garnets instead to the control of the c

The illuminated manuscript of Kests referred to is the mots elaborate specimen of binding executed by Mr. Sutcliffe since he designed a jeweled Omar Khayyam, which was purchased by the German Covernment for the Frankfort Museum 12 years ago, and in the decoration of which if could wore used. Another specimen of Mr. Satteliffe's are is a simplyously beand copy of Shelley's works, each flower on the hawthern decoration heing set with a pearl.

Volumes in modern bindings which sell for $100 to $2500 each are by no means uncommon. Not long ago, for instance, a set of Dickens' was published in America, the price per volume being $100, each book heing bound in veilum and inclosed in a casket of white silk and leather.
